Food-Safety Detective: Find the Hidden Risks

Tracking #: 2026-11-13-NAT-HEALTH-SAFETY-AUDIT-46

Fictional two-station safety audit, interpreted using CDC Clean / Separate / Cook / Chill

| Station | Observed action |
|---|---|
| A1 | Board touched raw chicken then sliced fruit without wash |
| A2 | Clean spoons sit beside used dishcloth |
| A3 | Worker washed hands 20 sec before beginning |
| B1 | Raw-food board kept separate from fruit board |
| B2 | Worker opens trash bin, then handles clean cups |
| B3 | All towels are clean and reserved for drying |

1. Identify FOUR concrete hazards or preventive steps across A1 to B3. For each say exactly which object or hand contact matters and why.

2. Design a labelled safe worktop with a clean-tool zone, raw-item zone (hypothetical ONLY), used-item zone and handwash location. Show at least TWO arrows for routes contamination must NOT take.

Fictional two-station safety audit, interpreted using CDC Clean / Separate / Cook / Chill

| Station | Observed action |
|---|---|
| A1 | Board touched raw chicken then sliced fruit without wash |
| A2 | Clean spoons sit beside used dishcloth |
| A3 | Worker washed hands 20 sec before beginning |
| B1 | Raw-food board kept separate from fruit board |
| B2 | Worker opens trash bin, then handles clean cups |
| B3 | All towels are clean and reserved for drying |

3. Audit A1 and B1 together. Explain why the first requires correction and the second is safer, then list exact actions before anyone can touch ready-to-eat fruit.

4. Perform a real 20-second soap scrub on your own hands. Record what you actually did and estimate actual elapsed scrub seconds. List when a second scrub would be necessary in B2.

Fictional two-station safety audit, interpreted using CDC Clean / Separate / Cook / Chill

| Station | Observed action |
|---|---|
| A1 | Board touched raw chicken then sliced fruit without wash |
| A2 | Clean spoons sit beside used dishcloth |
| A3 | Worker washed hands 20 sec before beginning |
| B1 | Raw-food board kept separate from fruit board |
| B2 | Worker opens trash bin, then handles clean cups |
| B3 | All towels are clean and reserved for drying |

5. A friend says 'I washed once so the entire kitchen is safe.' Identify TWO missing pieces of evidence and write a practical clean/separate inspection checklist.

6. Write a six-sentence safety review of both stations: two strengths, two problems, a stepwise correction, and one claim you still cannot prove without observation.